

CORNUCOPIA

The Brand Environment

The entrance to the restaurant lets people know that it is open right as they notice the space.

It leads to a waiting area where one gets instructions to sit and can see the map to the floor they are on.

They can visit the gift shop right next to the waiting area by seeing it on the map.

The on-theme trident direction signs help guide people further into the space.

They decide to go to the bar next.

The washroom directions are easy to understand; the icons are also in Greek clothing.

The washroom has clear indication on gender.

The path towards the restaurant has directions on the floor leading to sections within the dining area.

The arrows lead to sections for tables and chair placement; they have themes based on various Olympians and their ruling domains. Customers can easily find the exit from here.

The kitchen area is out of bounds to customers.

The floor above has more areas to explore.

The Event Centre seems consistently occupied with activities every day.

Thanks for Visiting!

Do turn back for us.

Upon exiting, the guest is thanked for their visit. The board has a reference to Orpheus' tale of turning back in his quest to the Underworld.
